Focus

What superpowers do Muslims believe Allah has?

Allah treats people fairly because he is just

Just

Omnipotent

Merciful

Allah is all forgiving which is how he shows mercy

Immanent

Allah is within the universe with humanity.

Transcendent

Allah is beyond the universe above earth.

Read through the information and transfer it on to the next page in your own words.

Justice means treating people fairly, equally and justly, Allah's justice is shown in the rules Allah has given to make sure that humans deal fairly and justly with each other.

"Each person is responsible for holding up justice in the world."

Allah is immanent, close to all of his creation, causing miracles and listening to prayers on earth because he is immanent within earth. "His grasp is over all vision"

Transcendence is a great mystery.

Allah is far beyond human understanding because he is transcendent, he is beyond and above the earth. Humans don't have the intelligence to understand him "no vision can grasp him" because he is so superior and transcendent.

Allah created the universe, because he is omnipotent and has the power to do so. Islam means "submission to Gods will" Muslims submit to Allah because he is great and powerful and the only being that will ever be worshipped as he is their creator.

Allah's mercy is shown in the teachings that Allah forgives those that repent, if in your heart you want forgiveness then Allah shall forgive.

Every chapter in the Quran (Muslims holy book) starts with the statement

"Bismallah in the name of Allah the most merciful, the compassionate."

They hear this statement more than any other to remind them that if they do something wrong Allah will always be there for them with understanding and forgiveness
