

It made a difference

It didn't make a difference

It inspired thousands of other black people to protest

White people still refused to accept the ruling and refused to sit next to black people

There had been other successful court cases before Rosa Parks. This was not the first.

It showed that peaceful protest could be successful

People were angry at black people for protesting and there was lots of violence and anger against them.

Some black people still stayed at the back because they were too scared to sit in the white people's seats

It made Martin Luther King famous, he later became the most important person in the Civil Rights Movement

It almost bankrupt the bus companies. This showed how important it was to treat black people well.

It proved that black people could win against white segregation and racism.

Many white people saw the case and began to support equal rights.

It only affected one city. The rest of America hadn't changed.

This was only a small victory. The busses were safe now but there was still segregation in many other parts of life.

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

A) _____
_____
_____
_____

B) In 1955 buses were segregated, meaning that white people sat at the front and black people sat at the back.

C) The boycott lasted for 381 days! The bus companies lost lots of money because 60-70% of their customers were black.

D) The whole black community in her town of Montgomery supported her. They boycotted the busses and got around by other methods

E) Eventually the Supreme Court in America declared the bus segregation illegal. Black people could now sit wherever they wanted!

F) One day a bus driver told Rosa Parks to stand up to let a white person sit down. She refused to move.

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

Letter: _____

A) _____
_____
_____
_____

B) In 1955 buses were segregated, meaning that white people sat at the front and black people sat at the back.

C) The boycott lasted for 381 days! The bus companies lost lots of money because 60-70% of their customers were black.

D) The whole black community in her town of Montgomery supported her. They boycotted the busses and got around by other methods

E) Eventually the Supreme Court in America declared the bus segregation illegal. Black people could now sit wherever they wanted!

F) One day a bus driver told Rosa Parks to stand up to let a white person sit down. She refused to move.