Source F

From Pat Beauchamp's autobiography, Fanny Goes to War, published in 1919. Beauchamp first worked as a nurse, bringing in the wounded from the trenches, and from 1916 as an ambulance driver. Here she is writing about an account of FANYS from an English newspaper.

The following is an extract from an account by Mr. Beach Thomas in a leading daily: "Our Yeomanry nurses who, among other work, drive, clean, and manage their own ambulance cars... have done prodigies [wonders] along the Belgian front. One of their latest activities has been to devise and work a peripatetic [travelling] bath.. Ten collapsible baths are packed into a motor car which circulates behind the lines. The water is heated by the engine in a cistern in the interior of the car and offers the luxury of a hot bath to several score men."
