

Drawing skills for DT – how designers communicate ideas.

Can you describe three ways a person can communicate with another person?

One of the main ways a designer creates and explains their ideas is through drawing.

These can be technical drawings showing exact measurements like this one.

But initially they are sketches.

To become more confident at drawing in DT we want you to practice drawing for at least 1 hour for each activity. More practice means more confidence.

Watch each of the YouTube video tutorials and practice the skills.
